

(LCN Connections Issue 4 - August 2012)

THE HISTORY CHANNEL SPENDS A WEEK AT TMI

On March 9th, a camera crew joined thirteen participants during their Lifeline program.

The camera crew were from a show named The uneXplained. Which is a new series that is featured on the Biography Channel, as well as A&E.

Executive Producer Russ Stratton attended a Gateway Voyage Program several years ago, afterward he knew he wanted to share this experience with the world, and after years of planning, his film crew of five cameramen captured the process as it unfolded during a Lifeline program.

TMI features in the series final.

The uneXplained

A future double-episode will showcase The Monroe Institute – “Journey of the Lost” - A group of 13 dedicated people gather on top of a rural Virginia mountain in an attempt to rescue deceased spirits across the country. Sometimes called the real “ghost- busters,” The Monroe Institute’s Life-liners seek out souls who have not yet crossed over and try to help them do so.

Air date is Saturday, September 15 at 10:00PM (EST):

“The episodes are beautiful and truly capture the magic of Monroe.”

Diana Basmajian
Associate Producer
The uneXplained